These are exciting times. The 2014 Greater Seattle Jewish Community Study (available at jewishinseattle.org/2014-community-study) pointed to numerous opportunities for strengthening Jewish life and for engaging in ways that suit a very diverse community that is expected to continue its remarkable growth.

ENGAGE, INNOVATE, ADVOCATE

Where the Jewish Federation plays an indispensable role is in engaging, innovating, and advocating. The Federation is uniquely positioned, through our relationships and our planning and research capabilities, to identify Jewish engagement opportunities, identify needs, and work collaboratively with partners to bring solutions to fruition. Often, the best solution is a conventional approach. Sometimes, however, it pays to support a promising program conceived from a bright idea. The Federation plays an indispensable role in helping such innovations get off the ground.

The Federation is the Jewish community’s voice to our elected representatives, advocating through the lens of our Jewish values for services and capital investments benefiting people and communal organizations. The Federation connects the Puget Sound region to global Jewish life, through services, learning opportunities at home, and people-to-people missions abroad. When we must stand as one, to counter anti-Semitism, to support Israel, or to help Jews in need wherever they are, the Federation gets the call to bring us together.

Looking ahead, we are excited about the bimonthly magazine we are launching in August 2015. The magazine will highlight the people, trends and lifestyles that make the Puget Sound area an exciting center of Jewish life. Together with an enhanced online presence, the magazine will keep our community connected and informed as it grows and changes in the years ahead.

In the pages that follow, you will see how the Jewish Federation served Jewish Puget Sound in 2014, which was made possible by your generous support. We thank you for making our work possible.

ENGAGE

PJ LIBRARY®

“We’ve introduced several friends to the Thursday story hours and to PJ Library. It’s such a great resource. I’m a stay-at-home, Gentile parent, and I’ve loved having this as another way to expose our son to Jewish culture. Yay, PJ Library!” —Angela Hyland, PJ parent

The PJ Library® helps families on their Jewish journeys by sending special Jewish books and music to 1,700-plus children ages 6 months to 8 years. PJ also offers free neighborhood song and story events where families can get together and make friends. The PJ Library® is expanding to serve children ages 9-11 through PJ Our Way®. Find out more at pjlibrary.org.

JEWISH SUMMER CAMP

“This year’s camp experience was by far one of the best experiences of my life. I felt closer to Judaism and my peers.” —Hannah

Overnight camp has long been a fun and effective way for kids to solidify their Jewish identity – and to make lifelong friends. At Jewish summer camp, children can learn social skills, explore their interests, and discover what Judaism means to them. For the summer 2014 camping season, the Jewish Federation awarded 254 camp scholarships, a 25 percent increase over the previous year. Support for camp scholarships is provided by the Samis Foundation and the Loeb Family Foundation.
THE JEWISH FEDERATION CONNECTS PEOPLE TO JEWISH LIFE, OPENING DOORS OF ENGAGEMENT FOR ALL AGES AND INTERESTS.

TEEN ISRAEL EXPERIENCES

“I am telling you as teens to experience Israel no matter how afraid you are of leaving home because I promise it will be the time of your life.” —Siobahn

Young people who have the opportunity to go on Israel experiences come away with a stronger sense of their Jewish identity and closer connections to Israel. For 2014, the Jewish Federation awarded 28 scholarships for teen Israel experiences. Teens who go on these life-transforming journeys often have profound things to share in blog posts about how visiting Israel has changed their perceptions about their Jewish identity and the role of Judaism in their lives. Support for teen Israel scholarships is provided by the SAMIS Foundation.

CONVENING OUR COMMUNITY

During Operation Protective Edge in 2014, Israeli communities suffered indiscriminate rocket fire from Gaza Strip terrorists. The Jewish Federation brought together Jewish communal organizations to hold two events to show support for Israel: a Community Gathering at Congregation Beth Shalom and a Solidarity Rally at Seattle Center, both of which drew more than 500 people. More than 1,000 people attended a JFGS-sponsored educational event May 28, 2014 at which Israeli journalist Ari Shavit and the Rev. Kenneth Flowers spoke about the BDS movement and its perils for Israel and global Jewry.
INNOVATE

PAVE SEATTLE®

Our newest initiative, PAVE Seattle, will create exciting portals for the next generation of Jews to connect with Jewish life through low-barrier, high-impact programs. The opportunity is here: The Pew Research Center’s 2013 study of American Jewry found that 94 percent of Jews are proud of their Jewish heritage. The need is here: Millennial and Generation X Jews are looking for different ways to engage – a proof point is the Jewish Federation and Temple De Hirsch Sinai partnering to offer an unconventional Rosh Hashanah service in 2014 that drew nearly 100, mostly unaffiliated Jews in the PAVE Seattle age group.

J-KICK

J-Kick is a crowdfunding platform that brings together potential donors and sponsors of projects that benefit Washington State’s Jewish community. For donors, J-Kick provides expanded philanthropic choices through a platform that makes it easy to find and support projects calling to people's passions and values. J-Kick is an alternative avenue for organizations to raise funds and expand their donor reach. Through J-Kick, more than a dozen projects raised $82,000.
THE JEWISH FEDERATION IS A CRITICAL SOURCE OF SUPPORT FOR PROGRAM INNOVATION.

HELPING PARTNERS MOVE THE NEEDLE
The Jewish Federation is an essential partner that helps Jewish organizations introduce leading-edge programs in human services, education, Jewish engagement, and more. For example:

Older Adults
With Federation support, Kline Galland has introduced a Palliative Care program, expanding the range of health care services available to older adults.

Special Needs
The Friendship Circle of Washington offers special needs children a full range of social experiences, by pairing them with teen volunteers who gain a sense of awareness and communal responsibility.

“Because of the Jewish Federation, we can continue being innovative and we can continue to grow and expand, knowing that we have the Jewish Federation behind us and the larger Jewish community as well.”
— Rabbi Elazar Bogomilsky, Executive Director, The Friendship Circle of Washington

Experiential Education
Livnot Chai responds to the needs and interests of Generation Z youths by integrating classroom learning of Jewish values with social justice projects. Program participation has grown from 40 to more than 200 teens since it began in 2012.

MAKING OUR VOICES HEARD

“Your Jewish Federation takes (Jewish) values, this sense of energy and conviction to Olympia...and it gives our values voice.” —State Representative Reuven Carlyle

Decisions made by our elected leaders can have profound effects on our lives. When those decisions are being made, it’s critical to be in the room. The Jewish Federation has a place at the table, making sure that our elected leaders understand the Jewish values that underpin our community’s priorities and act on them – safeguarding budgets for human services programs, protecting religious freedom and human rights, fighting anti-Semitism, and more.

GUN RESPONSIBILITY

The Jewish Federation has taken a public stand supporting legislation to curb gun violence in Washington State. Our leadership is necessary for making our community safer and more secure. The Jewish Federation has a special obligation to add our voice to this cause. Memories of the 2006 attack that took Pamela Waechter z”l from us and seriously injured five of her colleagues are a searing reminder of what is at stake.

Accordingly, we supported the successful campaign to pass Initiative 594 on the November 4, 2014 general election ballot and are continuing to work for stronger gun laws and solutions to gun violence.
THE JEWISH FEDERATION IS THE ADVOCATE FOR COMMUNITY PRIORITIES. WHEN WE MUST SPEAK WITH ONE VOICE, THE JEWISH FEDERATION BRINGS US TOGETHER.

FIGHTING ANTI-SEMITISM

It's easy to take our safe and peaceful community for granted. Until you can't. During Operation Protective Edge in 2014, some local protests turned ugly. Signs at Westlake demonstrations carried crude and shocking anti-Semitic slogans and images. Seattle City Council Member Kshama Sawant circulated an inflammatory letter about Israel. The Jewish Federation acted with resolve. We organized Jewish communal leaders to secure the Mayor’s commitment to step up protection of our community. We mobilized thousands to ensure none of her Council colleagues signed the letter. When Jewish Puget Sound needed a strong voice, the Jewish Federation made sure it was heard.

GLOBAL JEWRY

The Jewish Federation connects Seattle to Israel and to global Jewry. We do that in several ways, including support for human services and development programs in our Israeli partnership region of Kiryat Malachi and Hof Ashkelon. During troubling times in both Israel and Ukraine, we kept our local community informed about developments and about ways you could help. Looking ahead, we are planning “mini-mission” trips that will help people in Seattle, Israel and overseas to find unique and personal connections that will weave new threads of friendship in global Jewish life.
COMMUNITY CAMPAIGN GRANTS

The Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle works collaboratively with partner organizations to meet our shared goals of strengthening Jewish life in Seattle, Israel and around the world. The Jewish Federation’s grant-making process creates a framework for meeting needs and setting priorities. Together, the Jewish Federation and the partner organizations doing great things are making a difference in people’s lives.

SPECIAL INITIATIVES FUND

THE SPECIAL INITIATIVES FUND SUPPORTS GRANTS FOR TARGETED PROJECTS THAT MAKE BIG IMPACTS ON OUR COMMUNITY.

IGNITION GRANTS

Ignition Grants provide up to $5,000 for new, pilot or one-time projects. Ignition Grants benefit small and large community organizations for a variety of projects. In considering grants, the Federation looks for exciting projects that can demonstrate community impact.

In fiscal year 2014, the Federation awarded $64,698.80 to 24 projects. Grants included:

BBYO Evergreen Region – Outreach to middle school-aged youth.

Camp Solomon Schechter – Teen Foundation for campers to learn about Jewish values and philanthropy, and to research and distribute funds to Olympia-area non-profits.

Chabad of the Central Cascades – “Seders in a Box” for Issaquah/Sammamish families in need.

Congregation Beth Hatikvah – Updating of religious school supplies; bringing students to Seattle Jewish Film Festival.

Congregation Ezra Bessaroth – The Midrasha, providing meaningful Jewish education to women.

Hebrew Hoops – A rigorous basketball program combined with Jewish education.

Hillel at University of Washington – An Israel Fellow to help students and young adults deepen knowledge about and relationship to Israel.

Jewish High – Teaching teens about personal finance and Jewish ethics.

Jewish Transcript Media – Digitizing publications and making them available on the Jewish Sound website.

Livnot Chai – Making it possible for students in rural communities to experience Livnot programming.

Music of Remembrance – Presentation of two performances of the children’s opera “Brundibar”, including a visit by original “Brundibar” cast member Ela Stein Weissberger.

Seattle Hebrew Academy – 1) Community Day School Tu B’Shevat Seder; 2) Working with First Place School to build puppet stage to support Childhaven.

Music of Remembrance received an Ignition Grant to present two performances of “Brundibar” at the Seattle Children’s Theatre. Ela Stein Weissberger, a Holocaust survivor who played The Cat in all 55 original performances of Brundibar in Terezin, made presentations about the opera’s message to students from local day and high schools. Photo shows 2006 performance. From left in front are Pepicek, played by Ross Hauck; Aninku, played by Maureen McKay; Ela Stein Weissberger; and The Cat, played by David Korn.
Small Agency Sustainability grants provide up to $5,000 in operational support for organizations with an annual operating budget of $200,000 or less. In fiscal year 2014, the Jewish Federation awarded $27,800 to seven organizations. Grantees included:

- Chabad Jewish Center of Whatcom County - a gathering place for Jews of all backgrounds and affiliations, offering educational and spiritual opportunities.
- Congregation Beth Hatikvah - a vibrant, welcoming and inclusive community serving the Kitsap Peninsula.
- Congregation Shaarei Tefilah-Lubavitch - serving the observant Jewish community of north Seattle.
- Seattle Jewish Chorale - preserving and promoting Jewish chorale music, offering multiple performances each year.
- Hillel at Washington State University - serving Jewish students at both WSU and the University of Idaho, including holiday celebrations, Shabbat dinners, and special events.
- Hillel at Western Washington University - serving Jewish students at any institution of higher education in Skagit and Whatcom counties.
- Vashon Havurah - a warm and welcoming home for the Jewish community of Vashon Island.
- Seattle Jewish Community School - Expanding the SJCS edible garden with irrigation systems and worm buckets.
- Stroum Jewish Community Center - 1) Oneg Shabbat Outreach Program; 2) Five Jewish holiday luncheons for local seniors.
- Stroum Center for Jewish Studies at the University of Washington - Digitizing recordings of traditional Ladino songs for addition to Seattle Sephardic Treasures project, an online library.
- Temple Beth Am - Taxi vouchers enabling seniors to attend nighttime Temple Beth Am programs.
- Temple Beth El - Outreach to individuals in senior centers and assisted living facilities in the Tacoma and Pierce County Jewish community.
- Temple B'nai Torah - Scholarships for Camp Kesher, a weekend family camp drawing 225 to 250 people each year.
- The Friendship Circle of Washington - The Birthday Club enabling children with special needs to celebrate their birthdays at parties where kids were celebrated and honored in their own way.
- The Kavana Cooperative - Expansion of program through network building.
- Holocaust Center for Humanity - Improvement of introductory film about the Holocaust with outtakes of survivors, and addition of better maps and graphics.
- Washington State Jewish Historical Society - Production of videos and interactive map telling the story of Yesler Way businesses.
SUSTAINING OUR COMMUNITY

THE JEWISH FEDERATION OF GREATER SEATTLE OPERATES PROGRAMS THAT PROVIDE BROAD BENEFITS, AS PART OF ITS ROLE TO ENGAGE, INNOVATE AND ADVOCATE.

Community Study

The Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle has released the 2014 Greater Seattle Jewish Community study.

The study, the first in-depth look at our community since 2001, is a comprehensive look at Jewish Puget Sound – the size of our population, its demographic characteristics, how people engage in Jewish life, and how Jewish life could be strengthened.

The study will give Jewish communal organizations a greater understanding of their constituents’ needs and help them plan for the future. By carrying out the study and making its results available to the entire community, the Federation is playing an essential role in setting priorities for strengthening Jewish life.

The study went online January 22, 2015, at jewishinseattle.org/2014-community-study. A synopsis is available at jewishinseattle.org/jewish-community-profile.

SAFE Washington

Staying safe from natural and human-caused danger is a 24/7 job. The SAFE Washington program plays an essential part in strengthening community security by maintaining a robust communications network and offering training opportunities for communal organizations.

SAFE Washington has 251 active participants, representing more than 100 organizations in Washington, including federal, state and local law enforcement agencies.

In 2014, SAFE Washington held two trainings, a CPR/First Aid Certification course and a High Holy Days security training. In addition, a half-dozen other security trainings were offered through partner agencies.

Thanks to an equipment donation from Bank of America, SAFE Washington in 2014 donated to Jewish communal organizations disaster supply kits that could be put to use in the event of an earthquake or other natural disaster. So far, Herzl-Ner Tamid Conservative Congregation, the Stroum Jewish Community Center, Temple B’nai Torah, and Temple De Hirsch Sinai have received the kits. Additional donations are planned.

SAFE Washington is a Mark Bloome initiative and is a partnership program of the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle, Secure Community Networks, Setracon, ADL and Temple De Hirsch Sinai. Find out more at safewashington.com
Education Services

“The real guardians of a city are its teachers.” —Talmud

During the 2013-2014 school year, Education Services of the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle offered a wide array of innovative and imaginative programs to give teachers who work in Jewish day, supplementary and early childhood schools tools to light the spark of learning in young minds.

Fall programs included a Taste of Talmud with Seattle Hebrew Academy Head of School Rivy Poupko Kletenik, Reinvigorating Hebrew for the Classroom with Dr. Amnon Bruck, and Listening to Children from a Jewish Perspective: Engaging Head, Heart and Soul with Alise Schafer Ivey.

One teacher said about Ivey’s program: “Very eye-opening and challenging in a way that makes me rethink my classroom.”

Supplementary teachers turned out for a day of training in a variety of topics at a January 2014 conference geared for their needs. Teachers appreciated the skills, tools and insights that they came away with:

“I learned what strategies to use to help students with special needs stay on task and listen. It was very informative.”

“Discussion about Jewish identity was approached on a fresh, engaging and thorough, stretching workshop.”

Other development opportunities offered to teachers covered positive discipline, integrating technology into instruction and planning, and classroom leadership.

During 2013-2014, 239 teachers from 29 schools benefited from Education Services programs. Ten teachers received professional development scholarships, and eight day school teachers benefited from one-on-one mentoring.
The Wexner Heritage Program
The Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle supports the Wexner Heritage Program, a rigorous two-year program of intensive Jewish study and leadership development with a faculty of professors, rabbis, professionals and civic leaders. Participation in Wexner expands the vision of Jewish volunteer leaders, deepens their Jewish knowledge, and inspires them to provide transformative leadership in the Jewish community. In July 2014, 18 local community leaders graduated from the program. In addition to the Federation, Wexner supporters include the Samis Foundation and donors who generously made gifts for the program.

Affinity Groups
The Jewish Federation runs affinity groups for Jewish professionals that provide opportunities for networking, professional development, and for philanthropic initiatives.

Cardozo Society
The Cardozo Society is the official Washington State Bar Association minority bar for Jewish lawyers. Cardozo Society programming includes the annual L’Dor V’Dor Award. The 2014 L’Dor V’Dor Award recipient was Rochelle Kleinberg Goffe, who has had a distinguished career in law and public service, working as an attorney for the U.S. Department of Labor from 1976 to 1995 and then as assistant regional solicitor for the department until 2007. Find out more at jewishinseattle.org/Cardozo.

Maimonides Society
The Maimonides Society of Washington State strengthens relationships among Jewish physicians, dentists and other medical professionals through leadership, tikkun olam and professional development opportunities. Find out more at jewishinseattle.org/Maimonides.

J-Tech
J-Tech brings together Jewish high-tech professionals, providing opportunities for them to connect with each other through meetups and to hear from local thought leaders. Find out more at jewishinseattle.org/jtech.
Women’s Philanthropy holds special events that celebrate the power of women to make a difference and to raise funds for the Jewish community locally, in Israel and worldwide. The Jewish Federation’s dedicated volunteer leaders have worked diligently to create networking opportunities and meaningful ways for women to serve with distinction. The 2013-2014 Women’s Philanthropy Chair was Debra Mailman.

Connections
Connections is Women’s Philanthropy’s signature event, where hundreds of attendees gather every year to network and to hear from women who have made distinguished contributions in the fields of social activism, human services, the arts, and more. Connections 2014: Re-Connect drew nearly 400 women to hear the stories of four extraordinary Jewish women: 1) Patty Fleischmann, Co-Founder and President of Stolen Youth, providing a safe haven for sexually exploited youths, 2) Esther Friend, who has provided exceptional service at Kline Galland and The Summit at First Hill, 3) Whitney Stern, a jewelry designer and philanthropist who has dedicated herself to women’s health and cancer prevention, and 4) Adisa Ayaso Tassma, who shared her extraordinary story of courage and survival. Emcee was Jamie Peha, host of TableTalk Northwest.

Lion of Judah
About two dozen Lions engaged in a Local Mission on April 27, 2014 by doing volunteer work at Jewish organizations that provide services supported by the Jewish Federation. Lions packed groceries at Jewish Family Service, visited residents at The Summit at First Hill, and took part in a remembrance ceremony at the Holocaust Center for Humanity (formerly called the Washington State Holocaust Education Resource Center). The 2013-2014 Lion of Judah Chair was Adina Almo.
2014 AWARD RECIPIENTS

A long-time member of the Board of Directors, he has served as vice chair, chair of the Planning and Allocations Committee, chair of the early childhood task force, and in many other capacities. He has served on the Board of the Jewish Day School of Metropolitan Seattle and is currently a Samis Foundation trustee. David practices law at Ogden Murphy Wallace, PLLC. He is a University of Washington graduate and received his juris doctor degree from Georgetown University Law Center.

JACK J. AND CHARLOTTE SPITZER
YOUNG LEADERSHIP AWARD

Lindsay O’Neil
Lindsay was officially introduced to the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle on a 2008 women’s mission to Israel. Her involvement began two years later when she and her husband created a video for Campaign Kickoff 2011. Her recent participation includes: the JFGS Advanced Leadership Development Program, volunteer work for Kickoffs 2013 and 2014, serving on the Connections 2014 steering committee, and co-chairing the PAVE Committee, to engage the next generation of Jewish adults. Lindsay is a graduate of the University of Southern California and works in marketing and video production.

Brooke Pariser
Brooke began her involvement with the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle in 2004 as a Young Leadership Division board member. She chaired the 2006 Annual Meeting, served on the Pamela Waechter z”l Jewish Communal Professional Award Committee in 2007, participated in the JFGS Advanced Leadership Development Program, co-chaired Connections 2013, served on the Connections 2014 steering committee, and co-chaired the PAVE Committee to engage the next generation of Jewish adults. Brooke is a graduate of the University of Colorado and works in real estate.

Brooke is a graduate of the University of Colorado and works in real estate.
Zach Carstensen
Zach was the Government Relations and Public Affairs Director at the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle from 2005 - 2015. He led successful campaigns at the Washington State Legislature to establish a Jewish hospice for the state, enhance Holocaust education, expand Washington’s hate crime law, and secure capital grants for Jewish Family Service and the Holocaust Center for Humanity. Most recently, he played a prominent role in the successful campaign to win voter approval of Initiative 594.

Dana Weiner
Dana Weiner has worked for the Stroum Jewish Community Center for nearly two decades. In her current position as Senior Director of Family Education and Outreach, she develops parenting and engagement programs for families, as well as oversees the Early Childhood School Directors. Dana created the SJCC Parenting Center, which helps new families. She also initiated the Shalom Baby program, which provides a gift basket to unaffiliated families to help them welcome their newborns and to connect with the Jewish community.

Luis S. Moscoso
Luis has been an advocate for social justice all his life. He served as Amalgamated Transit Union Local 1576’s first President and Business Agent, and for Washington Public Employees Association/United Food and Commercial Workers Local 365, where he worked on health care, pensions, early learning, green jobs, marriage equality and environmental issues. Luis was elected to the Washington State House of Representatives from the 1st District in 2010.

Bob Hasegawa
Bob is a longtime labor and social justice activist. Bob has long sought to build bridges between social justice organizations, particularly those serving the labor, environmental, religious and Asian Pacific Islander communities. Since he began representing Washington State’s 11th Legislative District in the House of Representatives through 2012 and now in the Senate, Bob’s priorities have centered on serving as a voice for working families, small business and disenfranchised communities.

Andi Neuwirth
Andi’s belief is that all children deserve a Jewish education, regardless of special needs, family situation, or financial circumstances. Her goal as an educator at Herzl-Ner Tamid Conservative Congregation’s Frankel Religious School is to guide students to think and act towards each other in an equal and respectful way. Many of the challenged children whom Andi has taught over the last 20 years have celebrated a Bar or Bat Mitzvah. Andi’s philosophy for teaching is summed up by: Tell Me and I Will Forget. Show Me and I May Remember. Involve Me and I Will Understand.
THE STRENGTH OF A PEOPLE.

ENDOWMENT HONOR ROLL

The Seattle Jewish Community Endowment Fund partners with our donors to achieve their financial goals while giving voice to their highest philanthropic values and priorities. The Fund is managed by the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle as a service to our community. The Fund matches donors’ philanthropic interests to planned giving opportunities, ensuring that their long-term charitable goals are met.

In Fiscal Year 2014, the Fund made nearly $3 million in grants, supporting the Jewish Federation’s community campaign, Israel experience and camp scholarships, our local day schools, and a variety of small and large non-profit organizations across the Jewish and secular communities.

We recognize the following funds that were part of the Seattle Jewish Community Endowment Fund as of June 30, 2014. We call your attention to those funds that were new in Fiscal Year 2014 (listed in bold) and those that grew through additional contributions (listed in italics).
