Temple Beth Am is a vibrant, growing Jewish community in a vibrant, growing metropolitan area.

We are a k’hilah kedosha, a sacred community, welcoming everyone who wants to engage with the traditions, the values, and the wisdom of Reform Judaism. We are a community that sustains our members in times of greatest joy and deepest sorrow. We are a community that worships joyously, questions constantly, and works vigorously for social justice. We are a community that embraces people of all ages, races, abilities, sexual orientations and gender identities, and we embrace families in all their diversity, including interfaith families.

We stand on the shoulders of our founding members, who had the vision 60 years ago to build this Beit Am, this House of the People. The institution they built is still here and going strong.

Like the old man planting a carob tree for his grandchildren to enjoy, it is our turn to invest in a future that will be here long after we are gone. When you make a legacy gift to Temple Beth Am, you are planting a tree of your own, one that will bear fruit for generations to come.
